Which was put in operation in this city and Brooklyn prior to the election, was, in the opinion of the Democracy the cause of their defeat in this State. Whilst 110,000 votes were cast at the Presidential contest last year, only 93,000 were registered and but 82,000 cast this year. Since say the fact that all names registered were recently handed over to the collectors of Internal Revenue for examination on the income tax question had a good deal to do with the decreased number of votes, while others allege that the practice of "voting early and often" was knocked on the head by the new law. It is expected a similar act will be passed in New Jersey this winter for use in succeeding elections.

THE CHOLERA

Excites a good deal of apprehension among the people. The arrival of the Atlanta, with quite a number of cases on board, and with the report of a number of deaths from the disease, created a consternation which has deepened with each succeeding day. The vessel remains at Quarantine, and some new cases have appeared since her arrival. A letter published to day from Dr. Walser, the deputy health officer, who has had charge of the Atlanta in which he says "the ship's passengers were Lewis and Evans, who came to Havre by way of Paris, in which latter city the existence of cholera had been officially declared. In the emigrant boarding houses of Paris, some of them filled under the eye of the Government physicians, and it is related that those physicians, acting under orders from Government, showed themselves most anxious that the cholera infected passengers should be put on board ship at Havre, and afforded unusual facilities of transportation, for the sake of humanity, it is to be hoped such a tale will prove unfounded. Of ninety-six cases on the Atlanta during her voyage and since her arrival at Quarantine twenty have proved fatal. The cabin passengers, enjoying separate rooms and plenty of light and air, wholly escaped. There was nothing in the condition of the shipping or character of her accommodations in the steerage to cause or encourage an epidemic. Dr. Walser ascribes to good treatment by the Captain, good food, and prompt attendance and remedies by the ship's surgeon. If therefore, the Quarantine shall be rigidly enforced and persisted in long enough, there is no reason to suppose the Atlanta to be the ship to introduce the pestilence among us. There is no reason for alarm. No cases have appeared in the city, or are likely to from this source at least. The Government has, by the way, tendered to the city authorities the old line of battle ship North Carolina for an additional Quarantine vessel to the Falcon, if required. The latter has been in use some years, and is well fitted out with hospital accommodations. The enemy North Carolina will be even an improvement on her, and the additional accommodations will at all events, be of great service in case of need.

STEAM LINES ON THE PACIFIC

The steamship lines run for the past four years by Ben. Holladay from San Francisco to Portland and Victoria, and from San Francisco to ports on the coast of Mexico, have been sold by Mr Holladay to a company organized on the 6th of October with a capital of two millions. In addition to the ships run by Mr Holladay, they will add the Oregonian, a new side wheel ship now on her way to San Francisco from China, and the propeller Continental now preparing at this port to go round the Horn, with a cargo female emigrants for Washington Territory. The direction of the company is very strong, being composed of Ben Holladay, President Captain Wm. L. Ball, Vice President John B. Russell, Secretary and Treasurer, and as directors Paul S. Forbes, Wm. B. Duncan, S. L. M. Barlow, Wm. A. Travers, and Geo. Denman.

NEW TELEGRAPH LINES

Wm. Orton, late Commissioner of Internal Revenue, has entered upon his duties as President of the United States Telegraph Company. I hear there is a prospect that this company's lines will be completed to San Francisco by the last of June next. They will be in working order to Omaha by the 1st of January. Instruments for working the California end of the line go out in the Atlantic to-morrow. It is said here that Mr Gamble formerly Superintendent of the California State lines is now constructing the United States Company's lines, and has already put up five hundred miles of poles. The United States Company are also extending their wires South and will have them in working order to Petersburg Virginia in a few days. There is to be extended as quickly as possible to New Orleans.

A NEW STEAMER

I suppose there is no doubt in any Oregonian's mind that the traveling public and shippers between San Francisco and Portland, have long felt the want of a first class staunch ocean steamer of the first and quarter which would be peculiarly adapted to our trade and an happy Consummation to this desideratum the managers of Messrs. J. W. Ladd and D. P. Bradford, such a steamer is now fully contracted for and on the stocks of Messrs. Lawson & Perkins at their shipyard in Williamsburgh. She is to be built of the best material and City assured all of the modern improvements in the construction of passengers which the Pacific Mail Company's vessels now possess. The building is under the supervision of Captain Huntington Wood (favorably known to the Oregon and San Francisco public as the former popular commander of the steamship Sierra Nevada.

MINING CLAIMS

For the information of those having mining claims with the intention of coming here for the purpose of disposing of them to New York capitalists I would state that the Customs in that line were rapidly dull at present those gentlemen already here and in the market being but little in the way of making sales. There are already too many honest miners here from all parts of the Pacific coast for the purpose named and the coal region mining claims are too well stocked to warrant the sending of any additional supply.

TROOPS FOR THE PLAINS

The Second United States cavalry have left St. Louis for the plains. It numbers 840 men, and has done valuable service during the war. Fact, however that peace has been secured with nearly all the Indians and that the troops to favor its conclusion with the rest of them early in the spring. The force, however, will be useful in guarding the mail and telegraph route, and additional ones could be used to advantage.

LETTER FROM NEW YORK

CORRESPONDENCE OF THE OREGONIAN

NEW YORK, Nov. 10

THE ELECTION

Has been held and the Democracy have met a Northern State. Neither their Campaign in New York nor their Copperheadism in New Jersey suffice to save them. They were routed horse foot and fringe. One of our papers had the spicy heading that General Barlow had captured an entire Major General and the entire Copperhead army. This was in view of the fact that at Sayler's Creek Gen. Barlow's division made prisoners of Generals Ewell and Custis Lee and his whole division. On election night nearly all the headquarters of the politicians were closed. Tammany had open doors but few were present, and the only speaker was Capt. Rynders who made one of his characteristic harangues proclaiming his devotion to Democracy from which he had been thr

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE STATE

TUESDAY MORNING DEC 12, 1865

Statesmen vs Trinky Demagogues

We have received the following note enclosing the subjoined paragraph from Senator Williams

WASHINGTON Oct 28th 1865

EDITOR OREGONIAN

I enclose an extract from a speech by Hon Mr Henderson United States Senator from Missouri

I commend its careful perusal to our Democratic friends Yours truly

GEO H WILLIAMS

While in Washington a few days since I called upon Mr Johnson and had a full and frank talk with him in reference to all the questions connected with the reconstruction of the Southern States In that conversation he stated in his view the States attempting to secede were still in the Union, and had always been but that slavery was practically abolished in those States and must be entirely so to secure the admission of their members into Congress; that they must adopt the Constitutional Amendment destroying slavery the sooner the better and provide in their own constitutions that hereafter property shall not exist in man—taking his ground upon that these States are still in the Union He does not think that he or we can properly interfere with them in the State matter in any other than in that he can accept it upon persons not objecting to it under the respective State constitutions as they existed before the rebellion but as an individual he desires that the negro shall be enfranchised and would be gratified to see several conventions called for the first time to all persons of color who can read the Constitution of the United States in English and write their names and also to all persons of color who own real estate valued at not less than two hundred and fifty dollars and who pay taxes thereon

I have now quoted the precise words of the President and you will see that if the Democratic party on here ship they must endorse negro suffrage, and if so remove the last plank from their platform

These views of President Johnson as publicly and authoritatively uttered by Senator Henderson, may be confidently taken as the sense of the great body of our loyal and intelligent people Our own opinions upon this question of suffrage, have been spoken without concealment or dissimulation and we are glad to know that they accord with those of the man who stand before us as the leaders of the nation and as representatives of the public thought and progressive intelligence of the country

It is worth while to mention, and we ask the Union men of Oregon to observe, that their Senator, Judge Williams, sanctions the views of the President in relation to this matter The note from him which we publish above, clearly indicates that he holds the same opinions upon this subject which Mr Henderson gives as emanating from President Johnson.

In order to show still more clearly the position which Mr Johnson occupies on the suffrage question, we quote further from what he has said to other persons and on other occasions To Major Stearns he remarked

"The elective franchise is not a natural right but a political right My position here is different from what it would be were I in Tennessee There I should try to introduce negro suffrage gradually first those who had served in the army, and those who could read and write"

Again, in his message delivered to Congress a few days ago, a synopsis of which has reached us, we find him saying:

"I have no authority to make the freedmen electors, that remains with the States They can decide whether it is to be adopted at once or introduced gradually with conditions

After reading the foregoing, the views of the President can no longer be misunderstood. They are as explicit as language can make them Why should the Copperheads of other States, and the self-styled "conservatives" of Oregon claim him as their ally, whose, in fact, his liberal opinions are as high above their narrow bigotries and ignorant prejudices as elevated intelligence is above a natural littleness of mind, made still more contemptible by a mis-education whose teachings they have neither the power nor the desire to reject or forget?

These opinions of the President may be construed not only to the exclusion of the "Democracy" of Oregon, as Senator Williams suggests but also to the restless, scheming and tricky politicians who style themselves "conservative Union men," and who make Salem their headquarters and the Oregon Statesman their organ The Statesman, it will be remembered, claims to be the only Administration paper in Oregon. The true Union papers of the State it calls "disorganizers" and for no other reason than that these journals have seen fit to take a position on the suffrage question, precisely similar to that held by Andrew Johnson and Senator Williams Who are the real disorganizers? They who, on one of the leading questions now presented for solution, hold opinions which agree with the great body of our loyal people and with the Administration of Andrew Johnson, or they who give expression to sentiments which are exactly coincident with the views of the Copperhead Democracy? If the Statesman is purposing to follow the President so closely in future as it professes though falsely—to have done in the past, it will have to retract all it said awhile ago on the suffrage question and alter its course at once for the better. Copperhead doctrines cannot be glossed over so that they will be received by the Union party. By reason of its late excursion toward the ranks of the "Democracy," in the hope of distracting a middle party into which it might gain admittance, the Statesman finds itself in the awkward predicament in which a Union (?) paper advocating Copperhead principles may be supposed to be situated We should not wonder if, with that want of independence which has always characterized it, it should now at once reverse its opinions on the suffrage question since it finds the President is taking a different course from that which it expected him to pursue.

By contrasting the views of President Johnson and of Senators Henderson and Williams, with those lately expressed by the politicians' organ at the State capital, the difference between the ideas and purposes of statesmen and those of tricky demagogues, may be well understood In order to show how closely it agrees with the President in all things, we should be glad to see the Statesman give Mr Johnson's views upon the matter we have been considering, side by side with select sentences from its own editorials of a few weeks ago We think that paper would in this way succeed in convincing the world that there is a vast difference between such miserable prejudices and the enlightened opinions of Andrew Johnson

The Richmond Enquirer is revived by Messrs Tyler (its late proprietor) and Coleman, and has a salutatory in which its editors say the cause for which they contended has gone down forever and adding, the oath of allegiance taken by ourselves, in common with our fellow citizens, has a far different significance than the same oath could have had before the unsettled question of supremacy between States and Federal Government had been decided by the arbitrament of war Now we acknowledge allegiance due first to the Union before we held obedience to be due first to the States The same honesty and sincerity which made the sons of Virginia brave the dangers of battle and suffer unmurmuringly the hardships of four years war will make them faithful to the oath of allegiance

Sheer nonsense Whether the National Government, or the States are supreme has never been a question The National Government has always asserted and maintained its supremacy The question of sovereignty as between itself and the States never has been an open one "The arbitrament of arms" has decided that the rebel United States were not powerful enough to destroy the nation A loyal people will not concede that this absurd question of supremacy was ever doubtful or even debatable Should this be granted there could be no such thing as treason to the Government

The Legislature of Washington Territory now in session completed its organization on the 7th, by electing Mr Eldridge, of Whatcom county, Speaker of the House and Rev H K Hines, of Vancouver President of the Council

The joint resolution to adjourn sine die at noon of the 15th inst was taken from the table passed

Senate went into committee of the whole to consider the school bill proposed by Mr. Fraser His bill provides a salary of two thousand dollars a year for School Superintendent to be elected next June and also one thousand dollars annually to defray incidental expenses of the office Considerable discussion was had as to the propriety of striking out the one thousand dollars clause

Messrs Fraser, Mitchell Pyle and Palmer were opposed to said Messrs Cranston, Donnell, Grim and Curl were in favor of it. The proposition to amend was lost, The committee arose.

Messrs Fraser, Hinsdale and Harvey were appointed a committee on enrolled bills

H J R praying Congress for the establishment of postal routes in Grant county was concurred

The joint memorial to the Legislature of Washington Territory in favor of passing a law similar to ours, to protect the Ratboat from the old pilots was adopted

HOUSE

Prayer was offered by Rev Mr Dickinson of the Congregational church

A message was received from the Senate, transmitting a series of joint resolutions designed to be expressive of the sense of the people of Oregon relative to the death of Abraham Lincoln The resolutions are of considerable length, and set forth that, as it has pleased the Almighty to remove Abraham Lincoln from this life, it is resolved by the Assembly, that his assassination is an unparalelled crime, inflicting upon the nation the loss of a chief whose purity of character and patriotism have attracted the admiration of all who prize liberty and love virtue, that he has justly earned the title of the greatest defender of human liberty, etc

Mr Lane moved their reference to a select committee of three He regretted the death of Mr Lincoln as much as any man, and sincerely reprobated the manner of his murder, but as he deemed some of the statements in the resolutions false to history, he wished to have them changed.

Mr Fay concurred with the gentleman from Umatilla He expressed a high respect for Abraham Lincoln in certain aspects of his character, and regrets, as much as any of the friends of Mr. Lincoln, the manner of his death, but there were some things in the resolutions for which he could not vote, and he hoped they would be so modified that he could endorse them He desired to express his profound grief for the manner of Mr Lincoln's death

Mr. Lane moved to lay upon the table Lost

Mr. Underwood moved the concurrence of the House in the resolutions

Mr. Lane moved to postpone the further consideration of the resolution until two o'clock to-morrow As they stand now, he would be satisfying himself should he vote for or against the resolutions

Mr Underwood withdrew his motion.

Mr Fay wanted time to consider. If the House chose to press thing to a vote he and his political friends would vote against those resolutions as surely as there is God in heaven There are but four of us here, and we desire to have our sentiments appear correctly upon the journal

Mr Lawson wished the resolutions submitted now Those members who did not endorse them can make up a series for themselves

Mr Fay thought the resolutions could be amicably discussed and it would be a saving of time to consider the whole subject at one time

Mr Turner thought the vote had better be taken at once It was useless to postpone them The gentlemen who were opposed to them, had no sorrow or regret for the death of Mr Lincoln but only for the manner of his death They regret that he was shot and not hanged Therefore he wanted them passed just as they are

Mr Fay called the gentleman to order He had no right to impugn the motives of members of the House

Mr Parker was ready to vote now but as other gentlemen expressed a desire to vote for the resolutions if modified, he was anxious to see what kind of modifications they would place upon them He would feel just as much like voting for them to-morrow as now

Mr Lane's motion was carried, and the resolutions made the special order for two o'clock to-morrow

PETITIONS MEMORIALS AND REMONSTRANCES

Mr, Fay presented a petition from James Townlinson and fifty three others in relation to the specific contract law Also a petition from Isaac Hare and seventy nine others asking for the repeal of the Sunday law Referred to the Judiciary Committee Also a petition from O Humason and eighty eight others praying that the salary of the County Judge of Wasco county be reduced from twelve hundred to six hundred dollars per annum Referred to a select committee consisting of Messrs Hogue Eby and Waserman

Mr Otey gave notice of his intention to introduce a bill for the relief of J T Parker

Mr Lane offered a joint resolution that the Legislature adjourn sine die at half past ten o'clock a m to-day Laid on the table

Mr Underwood presented a resolution that when the House adjourn this morning it be until seven o'clock p m so that members could attend the funeral of Mrs Judge Rose At 12 m

Mr Fay offered a protest signed by Messrs Buell Lane Cox and Fay against the proclamation of the Governor of Oregon convening the Legislature It does not show that any urgent necessity exists for the special session The people were tested by it the right to pass the Constitutional Amendment The attempt to deprive the people of this right was a fraud upon them Before the next regular session there will not be a sufficient number of States ratifying the amendment to make it a part of the Constitution For this reason they protested against this session of the Assembly

Mr Gillette thought the gentleman had a right to protest against any act of the Legislature but were not authorized to record that in protest against a governor or anything not pertaining to the Legislature should be spread upon the journals of the House He was opposed to incurring the expense of printing such a long rigmarole of irrelevant matter

Mr Fay said there was no limit to the extent of the right to protest A member had a right to protest against anything even against a measure of the United States even against a measure of the President's message, the gentleman did not like Mr Fay had a right to protest and it should be spread upon the journals The majority can exclude us if they desire and we will have the relief

Mr Bowlby thought of the gentleman from Jackson was correct the men who made the Constitution must have been crazy It has always been understood that protests should be received and spread upon the journals

Mr Quick said that the vote by which the resolutions came in regard to Mr Lincoln were passed unanimously

Mr Bowlby favored the proposition. He had always been partial by willing that gentleman should have an opportunity of speaking their sentiments upon any subject before the House He had tried to be liberal to all as I especially to those who were in the minority But when I have very strong evidence that the gentleman from Umatilla is not so particular about the resolutions coming in from the Senate I prefer to press them to a vote In order that he might have an opportunity to express his opinions, the gentleman proposed to postpone the consideration of the resolutions until to-morrow, and then he gets up and offers a resolution to adjourn this afternoon sine die If this is the spirit which actuates him I see no reason for postponing the resolutions

Mr Fay felt grateful to the gentleman from Washington No one has a higher sense of the liberal manner in which he has treated us, protecting us from the insults and tyranny of the majority But he seems to imagine that my friend from Umatilla desires to adjourn this House for the purpose of sending the vote upon these resolutions He is mistaken We have stronger reasons than this We believe that this body is unlessly assembled, occurring a needless expense upon the State All this business could properly come up before the House in regular session I do not think the death of Mr Lincoln would alter the Governor to call the House together The reason that the resolution to adjourn was offered was because the minority believed that the Governor erred The resolution was offered in order to show our sense and we desire to have the protest go upon the journals of this House

Mr Speaker—The gentleman will please come to order His remarks are out of the question

Mr Lane I will announce to the House my intention to avail myself of some future opportunity to set myself right on the question

Mr Hogue—I intend to vote for the reconsideration The gentleman of the Democratic school of politics claims that there is no question of importance for the action of this body, and they avail themselves of every quibble to be obstinate I desired that they might have an opportunity to express their feelings upon those resolutions and voted accordingly Now I am convinced they wish to dodge the question and I wish to change my vote

Mr Wakefield—I voted to postpone the resolution as a favor to the members in the minority because I was desirous that they should have ample time to consider the subject I am convinced that their conduct in this regard has been merely to create political capital

Mr Fay—I call the gentleman to order He is casting improper reflections upon four members of this body

Mr Speaker—The gentleman will please be courteous

Mr Wakefield—I thought I was courteous. They say they want to express their sense, but do not tell us what kind of sense I suppose, however, it is their political sense—or nonsense, rather

The motion to reconsider was carried

Mr Lane's motion making the resolutions the special order for two o'clock to-morrow was laid upon the table

Mr Bowlby moved to concur in the Senate Joint Resolutions relative to Mr Lincoln

Mr Gillette wanted to change the first sentence, for he did not believe the Almighty had anything to do in removing Abraham Lincoln, and he would not vote for the resolutions as they stand, If God Almighty had done it, it would have been all right and there would be no use complaining about it But he didn't

Mr McCartney thought the resolutions were all right. The gentleman was only a little mistaken in his theology He lived away down the river where they didn't read much.

Mr Tate moved to amend by inserting the words, "He has permitted the removal of that great and good man by the hand of an assassin"

Mr Gillett insisted that God Almighty didn't have anything to do with it

Cries—"Question!" "Question!"

Mr Speaker—The members will please rise and remain standing while the vote is being taken, as a token of respect

Mr Fay—I would ask if the Speaker has any right to require this?

Mr Speaker replied that it was parliamentary usage

The resolutions were concurred in Messrs. Fay, Beale, Cox and Lane voting in the negative.

BILLS.

Notices were given of the intended introduction of bills as follows For the registration of voters to amend an act granting licenses for the sale of liquors, to incorporate La Grand to regulate mills and mill dams, in relation to public instruction to improve the breed of sheep

Mr. Lawson presented a petition in relation to bounty for Company C, First Oregon Infantry Referred to Committee on Military Affairs

Mr Lane presented a bill in relation to the Sunday law, also in relation to the collection of taxes Read second time and referred

Mr Wakefield introduced a bill for the registration of voters, etc Rules suspended and read a second time by title, and ordered printed

Mr Fay gave notice that he would introduce a bill to prevent the immigration of negroes, mulattoes and Kanakas

Mr Underwood gave notice that he would introduce a bill to prevent the killing of game at certain seasons

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT

On motion of Mr Underwood the resolutions ratifying the constitutional amendment abolishing slavery was taken from the table

Mr Underwood moved to adopt the Senate joint resolution

Mr Tate offered an amendment which changed the language a little without affecting the general meaning of the resolution Adopted

Mr Thornton spoke at length in favor of the amendment to the Constitution

Mr Cox arose to reply but it was then noon, and the House adjourned to seven o'clock P M

AFTERNOON

Mr Cox stated the reasons why he should vote against the resolution A long and interesting debate ensued, in which Messrs Cartwright, Gillett Fay Lane Bowlby, Wakefield, Tate, McCartney, McCormack, Perkins and others participated (The report of the debate will be published in full next week —Ed)

At ten minutes past one o'clock Saturday morning the resolution passed the House by the following vote

Yeas—Messrs Chaplin Thornton, Gingles, Gillette, Shipley, Tabor Otey Parker Callison Underwood McCormack, Isaac, Perkins, Tate, McCartney Cartwright Murphy Turner Wasserman Wakefield, Powell Holman Smith, Warner Hogue Bowlby, Quick, Lawson, Pierce and Mr Speaker 31

Miscellaneous.

The Indian tribes that made the recent attack on the Overland Route are believed to be that branch of the Cheyennes and Arrapahoes which were driven forth to the Platte river, after the Chivington Massacre last August. When the commissioners were on the plains they were informed that these Indians had sent messengers to negotiate for peace. It is supposed that these messengers were attacked and driven back by our forces and robbed of their mission, and that the recent attacks are in consequence. Information has been received at the Department of the Interior that shows that these Indians are yet disposed to be friendly, and Major Wynkoop has been detailed to negotiate with them

'64. This list shows whether that payment of interest was made or not by each individual The bills vary in amount from $250 to $1,000 each. It is reported that about $800,000 in excess of the $3,000,000, was surreptitiously placed on the London market by the rebels It will be remembered by the London Times that others were subscribers to the loan. Their denial may be accounted for by the fact that as the list shows they did not receive the last payment of interest, or their names may have been introduced to secure their influence without calling upon them for subscriptions.

NEW YORK, Dec. 8.—Wall street is very dull The only feature of importance is the increased public confidence as indicated by the rise in good securities and the decline of gold This improvement is attributable in part to the satisfactory tone of the President's message and to the decided policy of the Secretary of the Treasury relative to construction, and to the prospect of the reduction in the expenses of the war and navy departments and in the aggregate of the national debt

An important oil case, involving the title to the Maving Farm, over a million of dollars, was decided by the 1st Circuit Court at Pittsburg, last week, against the operating company and has been appealed to the U S Supreme Court

On the Death of Mrs. T. H. Sweeney

When that an angel's voice is heard
The late in mercy tells
It's time to still our mirths
It urges in the knell

Oh! in her love-lighted eyes
How fair glow pride and
The cheek of life's rosiest
When in its arbutus shell bound

The gay ball-room belle is in
Her satin's faithless mail
The heart's affections gave them
Echoes of woe's chill

The newly-wedded who sing
While long with faith's pure eyes
How far beyond time's vista
To live, who first must die

Yet living I see forever,
In brighter realms above,
Singing her hallelujahs
To God the God of love.

Our Growing Rival in the North

The increasing importance of the inter territor ial trade springing out of the creation of Idaho and Montana, has directed the attention of our merchants to the possibility of inverting it all gether from the eastern channels which it now pri cipally absorb it, and a route has been established by way of Chico which with the aid of such in ternal improvements as California can command, would speedily give her that advantage or at least, enable her to share the trade with her sister State As this commerce will soon assume ga mous proportions anything relating to it is worth an article

The growth of Oregon has not been by any means as rapid as that of her more energetic and youthful rival California Although having many years the start, her approach to maturity has been slow, and undistinguished by any of those romantic incidents which cast such a glory over the annals of our State. Her early history was one of peril and privation All the thrilling episodes of border life were re-enacted in the daily experience of her settlers No story of sudden realization of fabulous wealth, of rapid wresting of fortunes from the bosom of mother earth, was hers. Cradled in adversity, she struggled for a precarious livelihood drawn from the primitive soil which the original possessors were too lazy and too ignorant to cultivate, and like St Louis, her early steps were retarded by the perils of the wilderness and by the hostilities of an active Indian foe The foundation of all that prosperity which enabled Oregon at length to enter upon existence as a State dates back to the fur trade, and yet how utterly unprepared were the daring band of pioneers who composed the two expeditions fitted out by Astor and his associates, for the brilliant destiny which awaited their infant territory. Their ambition went not beyond the aggrandizement of the private mercantile company with which they were connected; they were reckless whether the barriers which separated Oregon from the American sovereignties on the other side the Mississippi should ever be broken down or not, so that their own immediate aims were answered Immigration in large numbers they did not desire It might have destroyed the great monopoly and introduced too many competitors into a field which was all their own. But immigration did nevertheless, come in considerable numbers from the agricultural districts of the West, until Oregon came to boast a respectable farming population For a long series of years, dullness settled upon her rugged hills and smiling valleys Her agriculture languished for want of a market, but her people gave no sign of discouragement. Her vast forests were dormant—her mineral treasures as yet undreamed of The impulsive restlessness which so pre-eminently distinguished the people of California, was entirely wanting among her settlers, who were characterized rather by the steadiness and sobriety for which the inhabitants of the farming districts of New England are so celebrated They toiled with very little hope of attaining more than a competency for their children, and if they earned only a bare subsistence, they were not disappointed

Until within a very recent period, money was so scarce among the Oregonians, that Oregonia a standing witticism to twit a resident with the pos ion of a silver dollar.

In progress of time, California began to build her own houses and shipping, and from that quarter, as well as from other sources, came a demand for spars and lumber, when Oregon found that she had within her grand old forests a mine of natural wealth. For her grain and other products there came also, simultaneously, an increased demand.

By degrees, the pro ucers, having, as they conceived, exhausted California, found their way into Oregon, and the discovery of extensive fields of gold rewarded their research. But still the original basis of all her thrift, the farming interest, remained the prominent one, and continued such through all the fluctuations of mining. The opening of wagon roads and the unfolding of new mineral districts in the British possessions, gave an additional impulse to husbandry and trade, and, as surveys and explorations followed in rapid succession, towns grew space, until, in districts from which the red man had hardly retired, lots came to be held at prices that would take away the breath of a San Francisco speculator Railroads now began to be talked of—a branch of enterprise in which California had already taken the lead—and one is now in operation at the Dalles, which has created a revolution in the mercantile affairs of that locality. Stimulated by the progress already made by our railway kings, Oregon had since began to calculate the possibility of building an overland railroad, to connect the navigable waters of the Columbia and the Missouri, and so only two-thirds or even hundred miles of land travel have to be overcome, it is not long Ere that she may yet outstrip all in the work of bridging the continent.

As foundations were laying the earliest branches of labor were brought into by mining enterprise in California, so also they followed hard upon the discovery of gold in Oregon, and several are already in operation in Portland and other business centres, where machinery is produced for her own mills and factories. Effort has also turned its attention to the manufacture of woolens, and has at least two mills devoted to that purpose. Meanwhile her agriculture is rapidly increasing, and her commerce becoming extensive, and putting forth six— additions to reduce a monopoly of the trade of the Columbia and Idaho, a trade in which our own enterprise should be interested, and of which the principal part of St Louis is enjoyed at present by the distant port of San Francisco, and if our people are not on the alert, it is not impossible that Oregon may carry off the prize.

With all this progress it is not to be surprising a tendency of character which was once a remarkable trait of the Oregonian. The last of gold gradually absorbs all other impulses and passions, and so it comes about that, while society in the inner districts of California is improving, the regions in which the late gold discoveries have been made are overrun by hundreds of desperadoes who seem to defy with impunity the authority of the laws and the efforts of the righteous committees. But Oregon is on the right track, and not many years will have elapsed before it will be a tight race to decide which of the two rivals shall distance the other in the struggle for commercial supremacy on the Pacific —Sacramento Bee

AMERICAN BILLIARD TABLES!

AND COMBINATION CUSHIONS

MESSRS. PHELAN & COLLENDER

WOULD RESPECTFULLY CALL THE ATTENTION of gentlemen wanting Billiard Tables to their assortment of the above tables, manufactured at their factory in this city.

At the Billiard Congress of 1865 our tables of all the first class players of America were pronounced by the Billiard Editors of the principal newspapers to be unequalled by any manufactured, and we are now prepared to furnish all first class Billiard rooms throughout the country with the best and most perfect tables.

Our Billiard Tables have received the unqualified approval of the best players in the country, who have unhesitatingly pronounced them unequalled for quick and true running qualities.

We respectfully refer to the following gentlemen, who have purchased our tables, and who can testify to their superiority:

[illegible] New York 24 August 1864

On the eve of leaving the United States I purchased of you a first class billiard table, which I have used on board the Pacific Mail Steamship Company's steamers Costa Rica and Golden City. The comfort of manufacturing a correct table, and the satisfaction of having it properly set up by your workmen, I can appreciate from the fact that I have used tables from all the principal manufacturers in the United States, and I only express the feelings of all gentlemen who have used your tables when I say that they are unequalled. For these reasons I can highly recommend your billiard tables.

HERMAN CLAUDIUS

We have purchased of Billiards Cushions

Parties ordering from us will find our prices as low as good work can possibly be made for. We call first class articles at fair prices, and will not make an inferior article at any price.

Asthma, Croup,

Diseases of the Throat, Bronchitis, Pains and Oppression of the Chest and Lungs, Difficult Breathing and all the Diseases of the Pulmonary Organs.

ITS ACTION IS EXPECTORANT, ALTERATIVE, SUDORIFIC, SEDATIVE, DIAPHORETIC AND DIURETIC, which renders it one of the most valuable remedies known for curing diseases of the lungs It excites expectoration, and causes the lungs to throw off the phlegm or mucus, CHANGES THE SECRETIONS AND PURIFIES THE BLOOD; heals the irritated parts; gives strength to the digestive organs; brings the liver to its proper action, and imparts strength to the whole system. Such is the immediate and satisfactory effect, that it is WARRANTED TO BREAK UP THE MOST DISTRESSING COUGH IN A FEW HOURS' TIME, if not of too long standing. IT IS WARRANTED to give entire satisfaction even in the MOST CONFIRMED CASES OF CONSUMPTION! IT IS WARRANTED NOT to produce costiveness (which is the case with most remedies) or affect the head, as it contains no Opium in any form.
